2. [REDACTED] had previously been asked by [REDACTED] to collaborate on a proposal for such a study. However, it was evident that [REDACTED] had in mind more of an R&D effort than was visualized by the undersigned. It was made quite clear that the idea was to study the possibilities of using the existing assets and technology as developed in [REDACTED] wherever possible. The essence of the revised work statement was reviewed.

3. It was made absolutely clear that this program had not been approved and that our conversation was for their guidance if and when they should be notified to proceed.
